Ir will be remembered that about five days ago a Chinese cook at the Cosmopolitan Docks wantenly shot an Indian watchman named Doll. This morning the cook, whose name is Chu Afuk, was charged before Mr Mitchell-Innes with shooting at the Indian with intent to do grievous bodily harm to him. The complainant, who received a shot in the leg and who has sufficiently recovered to appear in Court, said he went to the sentry box, situated in a passage near the cookhouse, and took from it a piece of soup, leaving the box open and in it a leaded revolver, which is always kept there. When he had gone about twenty feet from the box, he heard a click such as that made in cocking a revolver; and on turning round he saw about 8 yards distant the Chinese cook with the revolver in his hand pointed at him. Immediately on his turning round the Chinaman fired the revolver and his him on the left leg. The revolver had been levelled at the middle of his back while he was stooping down to wash his hands. The Indian on getting the shot rushed at the Chinaman and seized him. The Chinaman threw the revolver away and tried to escape, but the Indian, drawing his knife, threatened to stab him if he stirred from the spot, and the Chinaman was cowed. The occur rence is attributed to an ill feeling between the Chinese Dock servants and the Dock King.'-The effect will not be confined their services voluntarily. AFFORESTATION IN HONGKONG. Acting Superintendent of the Botanical and Afforestation Department (Mr A. B. Westland) on afforestation in Hongkong :-

26. The planting of China Pines was commenced on December 3rd, 1884, and completed on the 16th of May, 1885. They were planted in the following localities:-Kowloon, North of Butts; Observatory; Black Mountain : Aberdeen Hills ; Mount Kellet: and below Mount Gough Road. The total number planted is 342,302.

27. A number of seedling Pines were raised in sites in the following localities:-Mount Davis, Mount Kellet, the New Military Sanitarium, and Saiwan, 204,837 plants being successfully raised. A large number of sites, probably one fifth of those made on the southern side of Mount Kellet, were unproductive. The soil in this locality is rather variable, and the failures chiefly occur on the steep slopes where the grass is scanty. Where the ground covered with a fibrous carpet of grass roots, the rain, as it rushes down the slopes is absorbed in sufficient quantities to saturate the soil and render it suitable for the reception and subsequent developement of the young tree; but where the ground has been denuded of its herbage by the irrepressible grass cutter with his blunt sickle. which does not cat but upronts the grass, the young tree is sorely handicapped in the struggle for existence.

28. 150 Catties of Pine seeds were sown broadcast on the hill south of the Little Hongkong estuary. A large number of seedlings have sprung up, but in rather irregular patches. It would be premature however, to pronounce upon the issue of this experiment at present. The result will be more apparent next year.

29. Some Bischoffias and Camphors were planted on Mount Davis. Camphors and Cork Oaks were also planted on the kills above the Powder Magazine. These have 30. Fourteen species of Eucalyptus were raised in various quantities and planted out in the following localities :- New Military Sanitarium ; above Powder Magazine ; and at Sokonpo. The total number planted being 16,398. Each species was planted in a clump, and marked with a ticket to enable us to identify the different kinds, and note their relative adaptability to the soil and climate of Hongkong. This compari on has been very interesting, and will be vapart of the island. Other four species. namely : Stuartiana : siderophloia : Microcorys and maculata have grown moderately well. The percentage of deaths is small but the growth is slow and weakly. They evidently required a richer soil then the above mentioned sorts. The two species that have been least successfull are pilalaris, and hemephloid. A large proportion of both kinds have died, and those that

They appear to attach some importance to the plant as a medicine, and despite the vigilance of the Forest Guards, they succeed in keeping the plants in almost leafless condition. Even in the Botanic Garden, where the plants are protected by iron tree-guards and wire netting, they have killed several plants by persistently defoliating them and wrenching off the branches.

32, 10,000 young Camphor trees were raised during the season in Kowloon nursery, and will be planted out as soon as the weather is suitable.

33. Preparations were made in the nursery at Sokonoo for raising a similar quantity of Camphors next summer, but Camphor seeds are very scarce this year, and the price has risen four hundred per cent. I have therefore decided to sow the ground with Pine seeds instead. 34. Upwards of one thousand young trees have this year been destroyed by grass fires. We have not been able in any of the cases to ascertain the cause of the fires. 35. The Forest Guards made twenty-two arrests during the year; twenty of the offenders were fined or sentenced by the Magistrates to terms of imprisonment. The fines varied from five dollars to fifty cents and the terms of imprisonment from three days to three weeks.

36 The number of arrests is very inconsiderab in proportion to the notual damage done to the plantations. The Forest Guards have frequently complained of being intimidated by bands of woodentters. With reference to the application for a contribution from Government towards the Centenary Fund, the Chairman regretted to say this had been refused. His Excellency the Governor being of opinion that no vote from public money could be taken for such a purpose; the oust of the usual demonstration on such occasions should be defrayed by local sub-

Mr Olicab Eu Ghee addressed the Meeting and stated that it was the desire of the Chinese Community that they themselves should draw up their portion of the Programme which would probably consist of Fire Works, Illuminations, Regattes. &c., and when agreed upon it would be communicated to the General Committee and the cost of their demonstrations they would defray by subscriptions amongst themselves.

3. The European portion of the Programme as drawn up by the Sub-Committee was then discussed, and it was agreed that it should comprise a Public Fanoy Dress Ball; Regatts and Athletic Sports; and Fire Works.

It was also stated that it was proposed to have a Ruce Meeting (one or two days) to which the Fund would contribute in the shape of presentation Centenary Cups to

M.A., F.L.S. - The first lectures which I delivered to Americans were not given in America, neither were they given in England, although they were given in English possessions. They were delivered on board the Cunard steamer Cephalonia, about half way across the Atlantic. Though the vessel. Brussels, March 31.-Work is being re- is English, the passengers were almost Sufficiely Americans on confit territorization on tour in Europe; which forms a necessary element in a complete American life. The weather being exceedingly rough, even for that time of the year, very few of the passengers were capable of taking an interest in anything; but after we had been at sea about five or aix days most of the invalids had recovered sufficiently to appear at dinner, and assembled in the saloon and music-hall, the latter being a wide gallery round the upper part of the saloon. On board these steamers time is apt to hang rather heavily upon the hands, especially after dinner, when the only lights are those of the saloon. So there exists a kindly custom-a sort of unwritten law-that any. one who is capable of doing anything which can amuse his or her fellow-passengers is expected to do it. According to this custom. I was asked to give a lecture or Bombay, 30th March.-Lord Kimberley, two on board. There were, however, some in moving the appointment of the Indian difficulties in the way. My apparatus was Administration Committee, observed that it in the hold, and could not be disturbed was thirty-four years since a general inquiry and there could be no footlights in the into the Government of India had taken | saloon of a steamer. However, Captain place, and intimated that he did not propose Walker, with his unfailing courtesy, had a an inquiry into all the branches of the square frame made; and some black tarhave survived have not a promising ap- administration, but that the Committee paulin stretched over it in lieu of a canvas. should address itself to particular subjects | And. as the ship is lighted by electricity in which some question was involved that he had a number of incandescent lamps ought to be treated by Parliament. It was hung so as to make a very good succedadeen would probably have been in a thrive difficult for Ministers to propose changes in neum for footlights. So the lectures went ing condition by this time but for the per- the Indian Administration until they were off very well, and were perhaps more sucsupported by the recommendations of a cessful on account of the various drawstrong Committee, and not a few desirable backs. In the first place, tarpaulin is made amendments had been postponed because it of a number of narrow strips of canvas, was not thought wise to propose them to joined by very thick and very wide seams, Parliament on the chance of their being so that to draw an animal or an insect deaccepted. Lord Uranbrook expressed his manded a great amount of dodging the concurrence in the necessity for the appint- seams. Then we were well in the rolling ment of a Committee and also in the view forties, and when those huge floating that the Committee should direct its atten- | palaces take to rolling they do roll! It tion to distinct and tangible issues. He was all very well for the audience, who believed the existing system of administra- | were seated, and could hold on to the tion had worked well and that Natives had table when the vessel gave a more vicious lurch than usual. But the rolling was not so gratifying to the lecturer as it was amus ng to the audience. To make extemporaneous coloured drawings, complicated by dodging the seams and meeting the roll of the vessel, was anything but an easy task, and every now and then, when the lecturer was beginning to draw on the left side of the canvas, the audience was greatthe right, drawing at the same time a line which he had not the less intention of making I am fortunately exempt from soa-sickness, and passess tolerably good sea legs, but as there was nothing that could grasp I could not help sliding down the floor, sometimes to the right and sometimes to the left (N.B.-As soon as I was settled in Boston I had a thin india-rubber sole attached to the boots and shoes which I wore on board, and I conlitten bid defiance to any amount of rolling. This fact may be of service to intending voyagers).
